Data mapping

The Teamcenter plugin comes with a complete mapping scheme that is available out-of-the-box. The mapping scheme is based on the best fit between SysML and RFLP (Requirements, Functional, Logical and Physical approach). In addition, the default mapping is customizable on a single property level.

For more information about data mapping, see the following sections:

Unknown macro: 'list-children'