

Operational Signal

Description

An OperationalSignal is a specification of a kind of communication between operational performers in which a reaction is asynchronously triggered in the receiver without a reply.

Architecture Framework

UAF

Extension

Signal