Comment elements under Requirements of DOORS Next Generation Data Source
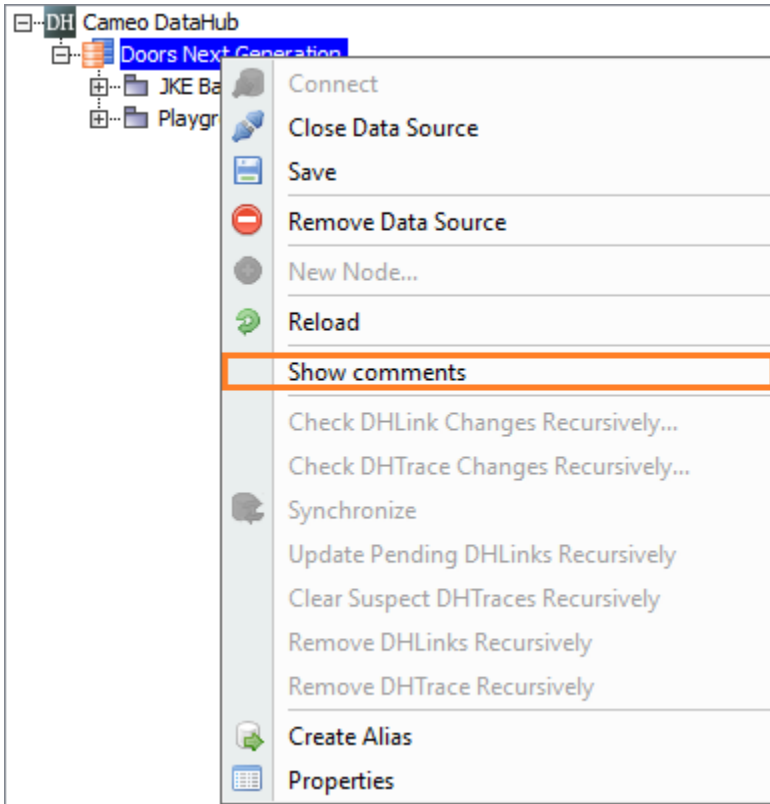

In DOORS Next Generation, comments are together with Requirements as attributes. DataHub captures comments by reading them as comment elements under Requirements. Therefore, you can import and create mappings with any element types, including comment elements, under SysML Requirements.

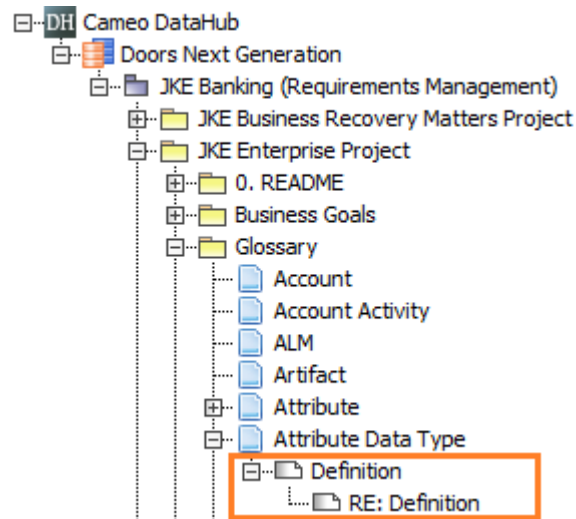

Comment elements in DOORS Next Generation under a Requirement.

To display a DOORS Next Generation comment element under a Requirement

- Right-click a DOORS Next Generation Data Source and select Show comments.

The comment element(s) will be displayed under the Requirement(s) of the selected Data Source.

Comment elements are shown under the Requirement of the selected DOORS Next Generation Data Source.

> ⚠ Note
>
> DataHub does not show the Requirements' comment elements by default.