

Component realization

A Component Realization concept is specified in the Components package to (optionally) define the Classifier. The Classifier defines the contract offered by a component in terms of its provided and required interfaces. The component forms an abstraction from these various Classifiers.