MDA

The Model Driven Architecture (MDA) approach as defined by the Object Management Group (OMG) "provides an approach for deriving value from models and architecture in support of the full life cycle of physical, organizational and I.T. systems."

Related pages

- Concept modeling purpose
- The role of ontologies and reasoners
- Open-world assumption vs. closed-world assumption
- Information modeling purpose