

Data mapping

Magic Teamcenter Connector comes with a complete mapping scheme that is available out-of-the-box. The mapping scheme is based on the best fit between SysML and RFLP (Requirements, Functional, Logical and Physical approach). In addition, the default mapping is customizable on a single property level.

For more information about data mapping, see the following sections:

- Default data mapping
- Customizing or creating data mapping rules
- Mapping element properties