Artifacts

Artifacts provide modelers with the capability to show additional information about a process.

This information is not directly related to a sequence or message flow of the process.

Types of Artifacts are as follows:

- AnchorText Annotation
- Association
- Group