

Velocity template language

The user guide for Velocity (VTL) can be found at: <http://velocity.apache.org/engine/devel/user-guide.html>.

Important

- The formal reference such as `${hello}` is not supported in RTF templates.
- A macro cannot be used as macro parameter in any RTF report template. This is a limitation of VTL itself: Velocity treats a macro like copy-and-paste content defined in the macro (between `#macro` and `#end`) at the inserted position.
- In an RTF report template, the style and formatting defined on a directive will have no effect on the report output. In addition, the paragraph symbol at the end of a line will also be removed.