

Selecting transformation type

In the first step of the Model Transformation Wizard, a list of the available transformation types is displayed.

Transformation types are displayed in the list window.

The following operations are available in the Select transformation type window:

Button	Function
Next	Proceed to the next step (in this case, Select source/destination).