

Creating Entity Relationship Diagram

An Entity Relationship diagram only shows entities as boxes (without structure) and relationships between them. It is useful for high-level, abstract domain modeling - provide a structure for business data, or define business terminology.