A published model portal with the navigation pane.

The navigation pane can be shown or hidden.

To show/hide the navigation pane

- Click ☰ in the title bar of a published model portal.

Switching between model views

A published model can have one or more views, depending on the template that was used when publishing. If a published model has multiple views, the navigation pane displays only the structure of the selected view.

To change the view of a published model

1. Click ▼ next to the model view name in the title bar.
2. In the drop-down list of model views, select the view you want to display.

After selecting a model view from the drop-down list, the published model portal switches to that view and the navigation pane displays its structure.
