Conjugated Interface Block
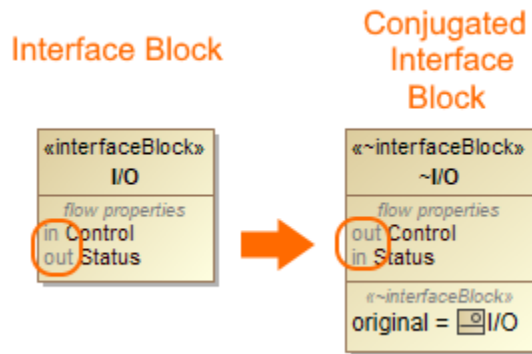

The Conjugated Interface Block (~Interface Block) is a specialization of Interface Block that has the same features as its original Interface Block except that its Directed Features and Flow Properties are reversed (conjugated). As shown in the figure below, the I/O Interface Block is conjugated to ~I/O which has the same Control and Status Flow Properties but with opposite directions.

Related pages

- SysML Block Definition Diagram
- Defining interfaces using ports