

We have multiple floating license key files, can we combine them into a single key file ourselves?

Unfortunately, this is not possible and should not be attempted. If you need to combine floating licenses into a single floating license key file - you should be engaging your account/sales executive.

They will be able to generate and provide you with a floating license key file containing all of your licenses in a single key file.