

Using Alf in Class models

The following kinds of elements in a Class model can have Alf bodies:

- The method of an Operation.
- The classifier behavior of a Class.

In general, to edit the Alf body of such an element in the Alf editor window, you select it either in the Model Browser or directly on its symbol if it appears on a Class diagram.

Related pages

- The Alf editor
- Using Alf for Operation methods
- Using Alf for classifier behaviors
- Using Alf for Property default values
- Making invocations through ports