

Switching to Business Modeling Perspectives

The business modeling perspectives are dedicated to business process modelers. The perspectives offer a simplified user interface by showing the features that are relevant to business process modeling and hiding the others that are not.

Business Modeler offers two business modeling perspectives. They are as follow:

- Business Analyst perspective that provides set of most often used elements of BPMN standard.
- Business Architect perspective that provides all BPMN elements

To switch to the Business Architect or Business Analyst perspective
