

Operational Motivation

Description

The Operational Motivation (Rq-Mv) view provides a central reference for a set of stakeholder needs expressed as requirements, their relationship (via traceability) to more detailed requirements, and the solution described by the architecture that will meet those requirements. It is used to represent requirements, their properties, and their relationships (trace, verify, satisfy, refine) both to each other and to UAF architectural elements.